Fall into Autumn with Rich and Warm Tones from Karndean's New Knight Tile Collection

August 2025: As leaves turn golden and the first chill whispers through the air, something shifts in the way we experience home. Our living spaces evolve into sanctuaries – places where we seek deeper warmth, richer textures and that hard-to-define sense of comfort that only autumn can inspire.

It's in this spirit of seasonal transformation that Karndean Designflooring introduces an evocative new chapter in its bestselling Knight Tile collection. This carefully curated selection of wood-effect designs will bring warmth and cosiness to your floors, echoing the aesthetic of autumn.

Warm woods for cosy spaces

Taken directly from nature, each Knight Tile design was inspired by a piece of real timber. As such, the new additions to the collection not only mimic but also celebrate the beauty of wood grain and its natural tones, from velvety browns to gently smoked oaks. Colours that will ground your home and welcome you in.

Nutmeg Limed Oak: A creamy, mid-toned oak with a gentle blend of straight and swirling grain. The delicate limed finish enhances its natural warmth, making it the perfect canvas for autumnal interiors layered with rusts, ochres, and deep botanical greens.

Cocoa Limed Oak: A rich, espresso-toned design that strikes a beautiful balance between traditional warmth and modern minimalism. The subtle liming effect softens the surface for a sophisticated, versatile look – ideal for living rooms, hallways or a snug home office.

Duxbury Acacia: The boldest option in the new range, this design channels the strength and character of reclaimed shipbuilding timber. With striking undertones of blue, green and grey, it makes a standout statement in contemporary kitchens or moodier, masculine bedrooms.

Russet Character Oak: Steeped in heritage, this smoked oak design is inspired by planks salvaged from an old wind-powered sawmill in Amsterdam. With its rustic texture and rich patina, it brings a sense of authenticity and history to any space – ideal for lovers of vintage charm and tactile design.

All four designs are available in Karndean's signature 36" x 6" plank format, which can be laid in classic straight lines, angled arrangements, or even as full-plank herringbone for added visual interest. For more detailed zoning – perfect in open-plan layouts or narrower corridors – Cocoa Limed Oak, Nutmeg Limed Oak and Duxbury Acacia are also available in a smaller 18" x 3" herringbone format.

Why choose Knight Tile?

Beautiful, yes – but also made to be lived on. The Knight Tile Collection is crafted not just for elegance, but for endurance.

“From the daily parade of muddy boots and trailing paws to the relaxed rhythm of autumn evenings spent hosting friends or curling up with family, these floors are designed to be part of real life,” explains Claire Ryan, PR & Digital Manager UK & Europe at Karndean Designflooring. “We’ve created a collection that brings seasonal warmth into the home while standing up to the practical demands of busy households. They’re incredibly durable, easy to maintain and full of authentic texture, making them the ideal foundation for any autumn-inspired interior.”
